

Europe Caspian

About

Bristow Group's Europe Caspian Region comprises operations in Europe and Turkmenistan, and includes oil and gas transport services, search and rescue (SAR) support services to oil and gas clients and SAR services on behalf of the Maritime & Coastguard Agency. The Europe Caspian Region's headquarters are in Aberdeen, where regional director Alan Corbett is based.

Bristow has operated in the United Kingdom and Europe for 60 years, providing crew transport services to offshore drilling rigs and production platforms in the North Sea. Based on the number of aircraft operating, Bristow is one of the largest providers of helicopter services in the North Sea, where there are harsh weather conditions and geographically concentrated offshore facilities. The offshore facilities in the Northern North Sea and Norwegian North Sea are large and require frequent crew change flight services. In the Southern North Sea, the facilities are generally smaller, with some unmanned platforms requiring shuttle operations to up-man in the morning and down-man in the evening.

Bristow Helicopters Ltd already provides helicopters and crew at two HM Coastguard bases, in Shetland and the Western Isles, under the Gap SAR contract. By summer of 2017, under the UK SAR contract, there will be 10 coastguard helicopter bases around the UK. All of these bases will be operated by Bristow Helicopters Ltd on behalf of the Maritime & Coastguard Agency.

Joint Ventures / Affiliates

Eastern Airways - Bristow Helicopters Limited owns a 60% interest in Eastern Airways. Eastern Airways is a regional fixed-wing operator based at Humberside Airport located in North Lincolnshire, England, with both charter and scheduled services targeting UK oil and gas industry transport. Eastern Airways strengthens Bristow Helicopters' ability to provide a complete suite of point-to-point transportation services for existing European-based passengers, and to expand helicopter services in certain areas like the Shetland Islands, creating a more integrated logistics solution for global clients.

Turkmenistan Helicopters - Bristow owns a 51% interest in Turkmenistan Helicopters Limited, a Turkmenistan corporation that provides helicopter services to an international offshore energy company from a single location.
